Re: Docket #98N-1038

Dear Administration;

As a consumer I strongly feel that any food that has under gone the irradiation process must be labeled. This allows the consumer to choose irradiated foods or non-irradiated foods. Just as we choose foods high in fat or low in fat. Let the irradiated food be labeled what it is IRRADIATION. Do not try to confuse the public by calling the process "Cold Pasteurization or Electronic Pasteurization" It is our bodies and we have a right to know the product before buying or consuming such products. I hope that you will keep the consumer in mind when deciding this issue and not just big business.

Sincerely
